DIRECTIONS.

FOR YOKE.—Make a chain of 100. 3 rows plain single crochet taking up back of stitch to form rib.

4th row. Widen on 25th and 28th stitches, and have 44 stitches between, on back of yoke.

Also widen on 25th and 28th stitches from opposite front. Widen every row, having first, 2 stitches between the widenings, then 4-6-8-10-12-14 and up to 30. Always keep 44 stitches between widenings on the back and first widenings, 25th and 28th stitches from fronts.

Begin jacket with a shell of 4 double crochet in every other stitch of yoke, until you reach the first point of yoke, then make a chain of 28 stitches and carry on to other point of yoke, with shell in every other stitch until you reach the 3d point of yoke, then make a chain of 28 stitches and carry it to 4th point of yoke, join with shell and make shell in every other stitch across second front. Make chain of 3 and turn and put shell on shell until you reach the chain, on which you put 7 shells, then shell on shell across the back, 7 shells in second chain, and so on across second front. Make jacket 23 shells deep.

SLEEVE.—Join in wool under arm, and make shell on shell on jacket, and shell in every other stitch on yoke from first row. 22 shells in all. Then 18 rows, shell on shell.

Around bottom of jacket and sleeves, a row of five double crochet shells. Around neck, row of holes for ribbon, formed by one double crochet and 2 chain; repeat across neck and finish with row of 5 double crochet shells.

NOTE.—Having had complaint of unsatisfactory results from the use of these directions, we would say that they are correct, and the Jacket will be right if English Saxony is used. A yarn of another texture will require a different number of stitches.
